WHOLE CONFERENCE NOW HINGING ON SHANTUNG; JAPAN READY TO YIELD

Effort Is Made For Delay By Nippon But Chinese Are Pressing For Decision One Way Or Another, Preparing To Make Any Adverse Ruling Into Political Capital

ADAMANTINE FOR RAILWAY CONTROL

Believe Japanese Are Ready To Yield Full Operation By Chinese And Have Cabled Tokio To Consider Sale Of "Rights" In Iron Road

(Trans-Pacific News Service, Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 11.—All the work of the conference as regards China now is hinging on the parley over Shantung which is expected to come to a head tomorrow or Tuesday.

The Japanese still are trying to delay consideration of the Shantung railway question with the Chinese pressing hard for a decision one way or the other. If against them, they will no fail to make the most of it, for on this point the Chinese are adamant, realising that without control of the railway, the alleged control of Shantung becomes a mockery.

While the Japanese outwardly are insisting on joint control, it is understood that they are ready to compromise at the last minute in case other aims which they consider more important seem ready to fall into the limbo basket.

The latest information is that they have cabled Tokio for permission to let the Chinese buy out the alleged Japanese "rights" in the railroad, if it comes to a showdown.

JOKERS STILL UNSEEN

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 12.—The American jubilation at the conclusion of the Quadruple Pact naturally arises to a large extent from the popular feeling against the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. For this reason, its ratification by the Senate is likely to be facilitated despite the general realisation of the striking similarity between Articles Two and Three of the new pact and Article 10 of the League of Nations Covenant and Article 6 of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, respectively.

The disposition is also evinced in some circles to regard as a weakness the fact that the pact does not guarantee the integrity of China. The best augury is that Senator Lodge, the Senate leader who was largely responsible for the defeat of the Treaty of Versailles, has staked his future on the ratification of the pact by his action on Saturday.

The naval ratio question remains unsettled. Tokio's instrucions in this connection have just arrived but have not been disclosed beyond the fact that futher meetings between the Big Three will be necessary before Japan accepts the proposals, but now that the politicial issue has been cleared up, it is hoped that Japan will find it easier to agree with the points of view of the other delegations in this regard.

The next question will be the French and Italian navies, with special reference to submarines, which promises to produce sharpish arguments.

The Chinese discussions are proceeding normally and the general impression is that all the major business will be completed by the end of the year.

SENDS JOY TO WORLD

London, Dec. 12.—The Daily Telegraph says that the Quadrupe Alliance has sent a thrill of joy and hope round the world. It notes that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance has passed out of existence on the only terms which Japan could regard as satisfactory and Britain could feel to be honorable.

The Morning Post calls it "the real thing at last." The delegates at Washington, by combining idealism and commonsense, have shown both vision and courage."

The Times says that never has any document with a greater promise to mankind been approved. It promises to fulfil the dearest wish of all the peoples of the British Empire.

The Daily Chronicle endorses Mr. Balfour's remarks about the excellence of Anglo-Japanese relations and is gratified that the bond between Britain and America has not been severed, but enlarged, bringing in other friends.

FRANCE'S NAVY PROGRAM

(U. S. Navy Radio Through Reuter)

Paris, Dec. 10.—The Chamber of Deputies today unanimously adopted a resolution for the provision of three light cruisers, six destroyers, twelve torpedo-boats and twelve submarines during the next three years.

HAILED AS GREAT STEP

(Reuter's Special Service)

Washington, Dec. 11.—The adoption by the plenary session of the Conference of the Pacific Entente is hailed as the first great step towards the accomplishment of the Conference with a record to which will shortly be added the Naval Agreement.

Mr. Balfour made a most striking impression by his references to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance as a bond for twenty years between the two nations and his statement concerning the Entente: "Nothing could better pave the way for the diminution of naval armaments which I hope will be one of the greatest triumphs."

The audience was manifestly pleased by the adhesion of Japan to the Entente, the reception of Prince Tokugawa's address indicating a decided impetus toward the complete restoration of a friendly attitude towards Japan.

The Chinese allayed apprehension of discord from that quarter by reiterating their hope for satisfactory adjustment and acknowledging the friendly interest of the Conference in the Chinese problems. The plenary session renewed the hope of an early agreement on all important questions and an

DAMNABLE, SAYS REED

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 11.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Senate leaders in general predict the ratification of the Quadruple Agreement, Senator Reed, one of the irreconcilables who fought against the ratification of the Treaty of Versailles, declares that his group will oppose the Agreement as "treacherous, treasonable and damnable."

INDIA WILL ASK BRITISH FOR EQUALITY WITH IRELAND

Sastri Tells Washington His Country Must Be Given Same Status

HITS LL. GEORGE

Asserts British Premier Broke Promise To The Mohammedans

BY FREDERICK WM. WILE
(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 11.—Secretary Hughes has no monopoly on bombshells and the one he threw into the Conference at its first session had a parallel today when the Right Honorable Srinivasa Sastri made a statement that the creation of an Irish Free State made it obligatory upon Britain to advance along the same lines in India.

"The British Empire cannot refuse India what it has granted Ireland," he declared. "The Irish settlement is bound to give great impetus to the revolutionary movement in India which already is very strong.

"One reason for its strength is the broken promise of the British Premier to the Mohammedans who were led to believe that the reddest kind of a war threatened other Moslem homelands in Asia Minor."

Mr. Sastri said that India was deeply grieved over the Anglo-Japanese Alliance as being fifty million more guns pointed at the heads of India, since the preamble to the treaty provided for the aid of Japanese troops in quelling any future revolt in India.

"India is unalterably opposed to any Japanese armed force setting foot on its soil," said Mr. Sastri, who replied to a question whether the cry of Asia for the Asiatic enthused India by saying, "Just after the Russo-Japanese war our pride was stimulated by the spectacle of an Oriental race triumphing over a European one which had been deemed invincible, but today 90 percent of the Indian people, at least of those who have any knowledge of political events at all, prefer British to Japanese rule."

City's Club Women To Hear Noted Visitor From Chicago

Mrs. Jessie Willard Bolte, one of the most eminent members of the Chicago Woman's Club, is a visitor in Shanghai for an extremely brief stay, and the American Woman's Club has issued an invitation through the press to the women of Shanghai to attend a tiffin in her honor at the Carlton on Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock. The invitation is not restricted to members of the woman's club, but all women who are interested in the advancement of womanhood through organisation will be most cordially welcomed. No time was available for individual invitations.

Places may be reserved by phoning Miss Leenhouts at Central 65 until 5 o'clock this evening. Members of all Shanghai women's clubs are especially requested to attend as Mrs. Bolte will relate some of her experiences as first vice-president of the Chicago organisation, and as head of the Finance and Membership Committees.

The Chicago Woman's Club with its 1,500 members was one of the first to adopt the plan of sections and has more than one hundred committees conducting its important activities. It divides its work into three main departments, Philosophy and Education, Art and Literature, and Social Service. Perhaps its most important work has been in social service and the club is recognised as the great influence for good in the city of Chicago. Since the acquisition of the franchise it has been able to do even more along political lines and Mrs. Bolte has a fund of interesting stories about its experiences in public service, the great point of contact with the male voter and his administration of civic activities.

Mrs. Bolte belongs to many other organisations, has served on the Chicago School Board and on the Illinois State Board of Education. One of the important works with which she has been connected is the development of "Ravinia," a pleasure park some eighteen miles from Chicago, where the best of music is made available for the city's millions at popular prices. Mrs. Bolte is a most magnetic speaker with a very vital theme and it is members of the club who have met her expect that the women of Shanghai will attend the tiffin in force to hear her before she leaves on Thursday for Manila. Mrs. Bolte is the guest of Mrs. G. S. Tucker while in Shanghai.

Dean Williams Is Speaker At Tiffin Meeting Today; Had Busy Day Yesterday

Head Of Missouri School Of Journalism Attended Luncheon, Tea And Dinner And Delivered Address To Students At St. John's

Dr. Walter Williams, Dean of School of Journalism of the University of Missouri and one of the most popular platform speakers in America, will be guest honor and one of the principal speakers at the tiffin to be given this noon at the Carlton Cafe by the Pan-Pacific Association and the American University Club.

The other speaker of the day will be Dr. William F. Russell, Dean of the College of Education of the University of Iowa.

Dr. Williams, who arrived in Shanghai Sunday night, came to China for a brief visit following the recent World Press Congress held in Honolulu. He will talk today on "Journalism in the Far East." Dr. Russell, who is in China as a member of the International Commission on Education, will speak on the subject "Why People Can't Read." The meeting will be presided over by Mr. O. M. Green, editor of the North China Daily News. It is an open meeting and a large attendance is expected, including many ladies.

Anyone still desiring reservations is requested to phone Mr. George Fitch at Central 5200, or Mr. H. P. Sailer at Central 6023, as early this morning as possible. The first fifteen minutes will be in the nature of an informal reception and tiffin will begin at 12:30 prompt.

HAS BUSY DAY

Dr. Williams had a busy day yesterday, having been guest of honor at a tiffin at the Union Club, a tea party reception at the Shun Pao and a dinner given at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce under the joint auspices of the Kiangsu Educational Association and the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce.

After tiffin, tendered by Mr. Don D. Patterson, Dr. Williams visited the Chinese Commercial Museum of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce and then delivered a lecture to the student body of St. John's University. Mr. Marshall Gordon, a member of Dr. Williams' party, owing to indisposition, was prevented from being present at the functions with the exception of the tiffin and the visit to the museum.

In introducing Dr. Williams to the Chinese guests at the tiffin, including the heads of the Shun Pao, the Sin Wan Pao, the Shih Pao, and the Shang Pao, Dr. Huang Yen-pei, representing the Kiangsu Educational Association and Mr. H. H. Wang, representing the Commercial Press, Mr. Patterson recalled the pleasant relations which he had had with Dr. Williams as student and friend. In responding Dr. Williams said in the course of his remarks that the representative character of the attendance at the School of Journalism in the University of Missouri makes it possible for the students in their later journalistic life to help in making known to the world conditions in this country. He looks to his journalistic friends in China, he said, for co-operation in furnishing this needed information.

MUSEUM PLEASES

His visit to the Commercial Museum, Dr. Williams said, was a pleasant surprise to him as illustrating the immense industrial resources and manufacturing possibilities of China and he considered it good proof that the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce is functioning efficiently.

At St. John's, where he lectured to the whole body of students, numbering over 500, with Dr. Pott in the chair, Dr. Williams pointed out that there are five features which characterise a successful student life in college, namely, independent and individual thinking as the basis of intellectual originality; reading the world's best literature and most informative books so as to have a broad outlook on life that will eliminate national barriers; effective speaking by means of which knowledge is transmitted from mind to mind in a spirit of service; effective use of the pen in order to give illuminative expressions to one's ideas; and, the ideal of service upon which the success of the four preceding qualifications is based.

Speaking of service, Dr. Williams referred to an ancient custom which prevailed in a city that was the leading capital city of the then known world. The workers of this city were in the habit of dropping a portion of their daily earnings into a huge gold vase on their way home in the evening and the high priest collected the donations and distributed them to the needy. On this vase was the inscription: "From each according to his

Boycott In Full Swing And So Are Courts With Sentences

GIVEN TWO YEARS

Hundred Sentenced To Spend Terms In Prison For Effort

(Reuter's Service)

Calcutta, Dec. 9.—The non-co-operation campaign, the main object of which is to preach a boycott in connection with the approaching visit of the Prince of Wales, is now in full swing. The authorities are equally active and arrested 100 picketers yesterday and 160 today. A hundred have already been sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from six months to two years for unlawful association and obstruction.

The police raided the Khilafat office and seized documents and arrested the officials.

Indian ladies desisted from the campaign at the request of the leaders but much feeling has been aroused by the arrest on No. 11 of the wife and sister of the president of the forthcoming Indian Nationalist Congress, while engaged on propaganda visits to houses, although they were quickly released.

EDITOR IN PRISON

Allahabad, Dec. 10.—The editor of the Allahabad independent has been sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment and a fine of 2,000 rupees, with the alternative of an additional three months imprisonment, for publishing an article advocating the recruiting by the Khilafat Congress of volunteers.

He also received a further sentence of six months imprisonment and a fine of 1,000 rupees, or, as an alternative, an additional three months imprisonment, for being a member of the Congress Volunteers.

Two other Nationalists were also sentenced to six months imprisonment.

LEADER ARRESTED

Calcutta, Dec. 10.—Over forty prominent non-Co-operators were arrested today, including Abdul Kalamazad, the president of the Bengal Khilafat Committee.

An official communique reviewing the events leading up to the arrests details the manner in which the Non-Co-operators challenged the Government's action in proscribing the so-called Volunteers and states that the Government had no alternative but to enforce the law. Therefore it decided to prosecute certain more prominent Non-Co-operators who are held responsible.

Calcutta, Dec. 11.—Mr. C. R. Das, the president-elect of the Indian National Congress, has been arrested for managing an unlawful association.

HANGCHOW BAY PLAN SCRAPPED AS IS THE WHANGPOO LAKE IDEA

Fairy Flats Will Be Dredged To Give Thirty Foot Channel, 600 Feet Wide, On Southern Branch Of Yangtsze Estuary Making Easy The Approach Of Big Liners To City's Docks

WHANGPOO IS IN FOR IMPROVEMENT

Channel Of 33 Feet Planned With Two New Piers At Point And Woosung As Start For Scheme For Placing Wharves Under Public Control

How Shanghai should improve its harbor to meet the needs of future expansion of world commerce and hold rank as one of the world's great seaports is set forth in all detail in the report of the international consultative board which has just completed the task reviewing all the records of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board.

The consultative board's report which is a document of some seventeen pages was forwarded to the Peking Government some days ago and copies of the report also were supplied to Chambers of Commerce and to consular offices.

In brief, the recommendations advanced in the report contemplate the dredging of a channel 600 feet in width to a depth of 30 feet through the Fairy Flats in the south channel of the Yangtsze estuary together with a continuation of the deepening of the Whangpoo to maintain a low water depth of 30 feet and make possible a depth of 33 feet.

Incidental to the deepening of the approaches to Shanghai it is recommended that steps be taken to bring about the elimination of private ownership of wharves with the end in view that the entire harbor be placed under the authority of a harbor commission with all docks publicly owned and under the control of the harbor commission.

As a preliminary step toward public ownership of docks it is proposed to build two public piers, one near the Point and the other at Woosung.

Through the recommendations made in the report all of the various projects that have been brought forward in the years while the Whangpoo Conservancy Board has been at work for the improvement of the harbor have been disposed of.

Reasons are set forth in the report why the plan to establish Shanghai's harbor in Hangchow Bay, which was one of the plans proposed, was not approved by the international board, an important reason being the expense that plan entailed. And it is also explained why the proposal to connect Shanghai with the sea by means of a canal was found impracticable as was also the proposal to establish locks in the lower Whangpoo.

According to the general scheme set forth in the report ample facilities to meet all needs of Shanghai as a port in the next several years are provided for and at the same time the way is left open for further improvement in the future.

It is held that when once a deep channel is established through the Fairy Flats it will maintain itself through the action of the current of the Yangtsze and the tides, but provision also is made to meet any development in the event this expectation is not realised.

"Port Has Great Future If City Will Do Its Part"

Maj.-Gen. W. M. Black, American member of the International Committee of Consulting Engineers which has just issued its report on the project of improving Shanghai's harbor, was the guest last evening of the American Chamber of Commerce at a dinner given at the American Club. General Black is the last to leave Shanghai of the international board, which was made up of representatives of Great Britain, France, Japan, Holland, China and the United States. He is sailing for America tomorrow on the Golden State of the Pacific Mail line.

Mr. V. G. Lyman, President of the American Chamber of Commerce, presided at the dinner and after a brief address complimentary to the guest of honor called upon General Black.

In opening his address General Black said that he desired to voice thanks for the "wonderful hospitality" that had been extended to him through his stay here. He remarked concerning the work he has just completed that he was particularly proud of having been a member of the consultative board. All were eminent engineers in their own countries, he said, and they had found in carrying out the work on the Whangpoo that each had a particular speciality. By reason of this there was an expert to meet every peculiar phase of the task they undertook.

Concerning Shanghai's future as a port General Black said that the coming years must bring a tremendous growth and expansion and he added that if Shanghai will do its part the development that in time will be realised is beyond all present expectation.

LOOKS INTO FUTURE

He pointed out that in the district of the lower Yangtsze is a territory of 50,000 square miles with a population of forty millions of people. Concerning the great river he said that it was the one main channel leading into the interior of the country and the products of the millions along the river and the goods to supply their needs must go and come through the port of Shanghai and he added that the amount of trade to be done in the future cannot be estimated.

Illustrating the growth of world ports General Black drew the attention of his hearers to a chart on which was shown the commercial growth of the great ports of the world, explaining that Shanghai is undergoing a similar growth, which though it encounters periodical set-backs, steadily tends to grow greater and greater. It was in contemplation of this future growth, General Black said that the report of the consultative board had been drawn. He and his associates, he said, had not undertaken to recommend anything out of reach or any ideal solution of the problem. They had sought, he said, to offer a practical plan to enable Shanghai to build for the future.

He pointed out that Shanghai now has nearly thirty feet depth in the Whangpoo, but with approaches that are inadequate and he added that even in the present-day commercial slump the present harbor facilities are not adequate for needs, as sufficient berthing and godown facilities both are now lacking.

As a measure of comparison General Black told something of the way in which great ports in all parts of the world are operated.

He told of the ports of New York, London, Montreal, New Orleans, Portland and Seattle and he said it had been found that the best service had been achieved and fullest facilities to shipping given at lowest costs in ports whose wharves were under public control. He offered the comment that in Shanghai all the wharves and piers are privately owned and by reason of this he said they could not be operated to capacity. The meaning of the loss to vessels when delayed for want of berthing space or by the necessity to wait for tides, he said, was a big factor in shipping operations for it meant an outlay of from $3,000 to $5,000 a day to a big ship to lie idle.

BIG SHIPS TODAY

Continuing, he contrasted the earning capacities of vessels of various sizes, pointing out that experience had proved that the earnings of big ocean carriers were far higher in proportion than those of smaller vessels. For that reason he said it is the large ships that will carry the world's commerce and it follows that ports that are to share largely in the world's commerce must make provision to afford facilities to the largest vessels. While he said that ships drawing 33 feet are in service today he said it was not likely that the general shipping would have a much greater draft than 30 feet for some years to come.

General Black then spoke at some length about the report of the consultative board, details concerning which are given elsewhere in this issue.

Following General Black Mr. P. P. Witham, who is acting on the directorate of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board and Mr. E. S. Cunningham, American Consul-General, gave short addresses.

American Admiral Received By Regent

Admiral Joseph Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic Fleet, was received in audience by the Prince Rgent of Japan at the Imperial Palace last Wednesday. Admiral Strauss was accompanied to the palace by Mr. Charles Beecher Warren, the American Ambassador, and by three officers of his staff. The party was received in the Phoenix Hall.

The officers accompanying the Admiral were Captain H. I. Cone, commander of the cruiser Huron, Admiral Strauss' flagship; Commander W. L. Beck, acting chief of staff and flag secretary, and Lieutenant Waller, flag lieutenant.

Commerce Bodies Rap New Exchanges

Expressions of distrust and disapproval of the numerous stock exchanges which have sprung up in recent weeks in Shanghai are being made by many of the older commercial and trade organisations of Shanghai.

The American Chamber of Commerce, it is understood, has signified to its members that it views the mushroom upcroppings of these institutions as a distinct menace to the commercial good-health of the community.

The Chamber has made inquiries at the Consulate and the United States Court and has received information to the effect that none of the exchanges purporting to be American in character is locally registered.

Trade Mission Man Hart In Accident On Nanking Road

Captain Reuben Robinson, a member of the San Francisco trade delegation, while on his way to board the steamer Empire State, just about to sail for America, was the victim of an automobile accident shortly before noon yesterday, suffering painful though not serious injury.

Captain Robinson was riding in a ricsha along Nanking Road near the Kelly and Walsh building when the coolie swerved out to avoid another similar vehicle. A motor car which was following also swung to the right, then doubled back to avoid an oncoming tramcar, and crashed into the ricsha. Captain Robinson was hurled to the pavement and rendered unconscious, his head being cut open by the impact. He was revived after several minutes and was taken to the steamer by Mr. F. J. Raven, who had come along and recognised him.

Lodge Says Japan Has Much To Treat For Yet

approaching adjournment of the Conference.

REJOICING BY PRESS

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, Dec. 11.—The press is rejoicing over the Quadruple Agreement.

The Observer, while regretting that it is not the full Tripartite Alliance of the Pacific it had hoped to see, says that it has fixed a definite starting-point for the reordering of chaos.

"One wing of the world which was nearly ruined has been rebuilt and we have not merely a plan but a concrete successful example for the rebuilding of the older part."

The French press similarly welcomes the Agreement. It says that it marks progress towards a new general policy tending to substitute for private agreements the ententes indispensable to the restoration of the economic stability of the world.

AMERICAN PRESS COMMENT

(Reuter's Special Service)

New York, Dec. 11.—The American Press generally welcomes the Quadruple Agreement.

The New York Herald says that it is quite a Gentleman's Agreement which will work, adding that it is big with promise respecting all other international problems.

The Tribune (Republican) points out that the Agreement has not the slightest resemblance to the Covenant of the League of Nations because it does not impose recklessly extended obligations on the United States and also does not trench upon her sovereignty by giving an international body the right to summon America to war.

The New York Times particularly remarks that the Agreement is "comically like Articles 10, 11 and 12 of the Covenant."

SYMPATHY FOR CHINA

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 10.—The Chinese delegates at the Washington Conferenle have been listened to with the utmost attention and their requirements have been closely examined. Indeed, as recently stated, China is likely to be the principal beneficiary of the Conference.

Reuter's Washington correspondent says that the opinion in British circles is that China on the whole has succeeded very well. Naturally, she asked for more than she expected to get, but generally her demands were received with sympathy.

The consensus of opinion is that Dr. Wellington Koo presented China's case with tact, firmness and diplomacy. It is not likely that China expects Great Britain to give up Kowloon, while nobody anticipates that Japan will give up Port Arthur.

If China obtains the bulk of her demands, together with the principles already accepted, it is believed that her delegates will depart satisfied with their work which was thoroughly well done in the face of tremendous difficulties.

DISCUSS SALTFIELDS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 11.—The Chinese and Japanese delegates yesterday discussed the question of saltfields and also the control of the Kiaochow-Tsinanfu Railway. The Japanese argued that they had had to reimburse Germany for the road under the Treaty of Versailles. The Chinese intimated that China was willing to reimburse Japan if the road were returned to China.

An official communique states that considerable progress has been made by the two delegations towards an understanding. Baron Shidehara was present for the first time since his illness.

(Reuter's Special Service)

Washington, Dec. 10.—At the plenary session of the Washington Conference today Senator Lodge explained that the signing of the treaty by the United States was subject to the conclusion of the convention with Japan concerning the status of Yap and the mandated Pacific islands.

He described the treaty as an attempt to remove the causes of war over a great area of the globe by reliance on the good faith and honest intentions of the signatory nations in solving all differences through the processes of diplomacy, joint consideration and conciliation.

If the nations of the earth were still in the innermost recesses of their consciousness planning and dreaming of coming wars and longing for conquests, no partition treaties, no alliance could stay them but, if as he firmly hoped, the world had learned a frightful lesson from the awful experience of the Great War, then the surest appeal in order to prevent wars must be to the hearts, sympathies, reason and higher motives of mankind.

M. Viviani praised the treaty as a clear and precise presentation of a great principle. France gladly accepted a place in the new international accord.

PEACE FOR ALL TIME

Mr. Balfour expressed his faith in the new arrangement which would be potent for good in international relationships. The treaty made it apparent that the Anglo-Japanese Alliance was no longer necessary. Anglo-Japanese friendship had passed through the ordeal of two great wars and something closer united them than the mere words of a treaty.

All his life he had persistently advocated the most intimate and friendly relations between the two greatest branches of the English-speaking race (Prolonged and tumultuous applause). They therefore saw how deep was his satisfaction at seeing the four Great Powers putting their names to a treaty which for all time would lead to peace in the territory concerned.

Referring to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, Mr. Balfour said that Britain found herself faced with a misunderstanding with the United States if the Alliance continued and a misunderstanding with Japan if the Alliance were renounced.

The only solution was therefore to merge the old arrangements into new arrangements, embracing all the nations interested. The Anglo-Japanese Agreement was evoked by Russian and German aggression in the Far East. The Americans asked themselves whether there was now a further danger from Russia and Germany. When the British answered in the negative as they were bound to answer, the Americans said: Why then continue the treaty? Might it not prove injurious should strained relations become more strained?.

JAPAN HAPPY—TOKUGAWA

Prince Tokugawa voiced Japan's gratification at the Agreement. He reciprocated Mr. Balfour's appreciation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. He was confident that the peace of the Pacific would be fully protected by the new arrangement. All Japan would approve of the consummation of this work and rejoice at this pledge for the peace of the Pacific.

Signor Schanzer voiced Italy's satisfaction.

Jonkheer van Karnebeek said that the treaty would be received in Holland with full belief that it would go far towards bringing permanent peace.

Mr. Alfred Sze expressed China's satisfaction. He supposed that the agreement would be supplemented by further conventions to include China and all Powers interested in the Far East. The Chinese delegates were impressed by the progress of the Conference in other matters and were convinced that a satisfactory solution could be found to the remaining questions affecting China's sovereignity aspirations. Mr. Sze promised their whole-hearted support in the maintenance of the most friendly relations in the Pacific and the Far East.

HUGHES PRAISES STEP

Mr. Hughes, his face wreathed in smiles, spoke last. He said that he doubted if in all the world there could be found a diplomatic document of such great import couched in such simple terms. He firmly believed that when the Agreement took effect they would have gone further towards securing enduring peace than anything that had yet been done.

Senator Lodge afterwards declared that, although it had only been initialled by the heads of delegation, the Treaty was approved to all intents and purposes.

Various resolutions of the Far Eastern Committee were unanimously endorsed.

Mr. Hughes said that very satisfactory progress had been made by the Committee. Mr. Root's four points constituted a charter containing insurance of China against acts derogatory to her rights to intergrity, and a binding agreement for the future guidance of the Powers. The Committee's resolution was an assurance of the Powers' careful observance of the principle of free and equal opportunity and that none would seek special advantages and privileges at the expense of the rights of others.

VOTE IS UNANIMOUS

The Chinese delegation having assented, the resolution was passed unanimously amid cheers. The Chinese also assented to the Committee's resolution, favoring the abolition of extraterritorial rights in China, thus making acceptance unanimous. The resolutions regarding China's neutrality and prohibiting treaties in conflict with the Root resolutions were also passed unanimously.

Mr. Hughes did not present the resolution relative to foreign post-offices in China, explaining that final action would be premature. It is understood that the withdrawal date has yet been fixed. The wireless resolution likewise was not presented as discussions are still in progress.

The Conference adjourned without considering the naval ratio question.

COMPLETE TEXT OF TREATY

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 10.—The following is the text of the Four Power Treaty, as read by Senator Lodge:

Article 1. The parties agree to respect their rights relative to their insular possessions and insular dominions in the Pacific. If there should develop between any of the parties any controversy arising out of any Pacific question involving the said rights, which is not settled satisfactorily by diplomacy and is likely to affect the harmonious accord now happily subsisting between them, they shall invite the parties to a joint conference to which the whole subject will be referred for consideration and adjustment.

Article 2. If these rights are threatened by aggressive action on the part of any other Power, the parties shall communicate fully and frankly in order to arrive at an understanding regarding the most effective measures to be taken, jointly or separately, to meet the exigiencies of a particular situation.

Article 3. The agreement remains in force for ten years, after which it continues in force, subject to the right of any of the parties to terminate it on twelve months notice.

Article 4. The agreement shall be ratified as soon as possible in accordance with the constitutional methods of the parties concerned and shall take effect on the deposit of ratifications at Washington, whereupon the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, concluded in London On July 13, 1911, shall terminate.

Woman Fined $50 For Beating Child

Ill-treatment of a four-year-old girl brought a fifty dollar fine to a woman who was charged in the Mixed Court yesterday. The child's mother appeared and stated that poverty had forced her to turn her daughter over to the defendant.

The woman's excuse was that the little girl was so continually getting herself dirty that it was impossible to keep her clean and so she had administered a chastisement and the child fell down and thus got the bruises which she displayed in court. The child was ordered sent to the Door of Hope Mission.

Appeal For Jury Trial Is Denied To C. W. Luyt

In the suit of the Netherlands Trading Society against Mr. C. W. Luyt an appeal that was made by Mr. Luyt for a jury trial was heard yesterday in the British Supreme Court and was overruled.

Mr. Lipson Ward appeared for the respondents.

Mr. Luyt stated that the grounds of appeal were that order of the Assistant Judge was wrong and that he failed to exercise judicial discretion. He referred their Lordships to section of the Order in Council, where it stated that where suits of £150 and over were involved application could be made to have the case heard before a jury.

When the application came before the Judge in chambers, counsel for respondent took the view that the date of hearing mentioned in that section quoted was the original date. That submission, he stated, was wrong.

He submitted that the County Court Act in England had no application in this case because the return date of the summons is the date of trial. In the Court here the return day of the writ of summons was also the date of trial unless pleadings are ordered. The return date was, therefore, not the date of trial, he argued.

The Chief Judge: Can you give me a definition of the return day in the County Court Act?

Mr. Luyt: Ordinarily, the return date is the date of trial. All interlocutory proceedings must be filed within a certain number of days. I submit where once pleadings were asked the return day is not the date of trial. If your Lordship rules against me on this point, the Court under rule 73 has wide discretionary powers.

The Chief Judge inquired what questions would have to go before the jury, if the application were granted.

Mr. Luyt replied that the jury would be asked to state whether the case came under the Gaming Act and what the damages would be. There would be a lot of evidence and a lot of documents produced. It was a matter which dealt with exchange.

His Lordship: Do you think that a jury drawn by ballot could deal more adequately with Exchange than a Judge? I would imagine you are wrong. It is for the defence to prove their damages. The plea of set off is a plea of law. The existence of the jury takes a good deal of responsibility from the shoulders of the Judge. You mention complicated accounts. I would imagine therefore the case would be the last one that should go before a jury.

Mr. Luyt submitted that his demand was a just one and he was entitled to a jury.

Justice Skinner Turner, in dismissing the appeal, said the action was brought by the Bank against the defendant claiming damages for breach of exchange contracts and the defence set up were on the pleadings, admitting the contracts but denying the damages and also setting up the plea of a set-off and a further plea that the transactions was illegal on the ground that they were gaming transcations.

At the close of the pleadings the action was set down in the usual formal way of this Court for trial, ten days notice of trial being given by the Court on the applications of the plaintiff.

The learned Judge set the case down for hearing and fixed the date of hearing, being 14 days after the date of that notice. The action involved a considerable sum of money, and the date appointed for the hearing of this case was fixed for November 16.

Seven days before that the appellant lost his right under article 92 of the Order-in-Council. It seemed to him that the two cases quoted, Fletcher versus Baker in 1875 and the Queen versus The Registrar in 1886 were conclusively to the point against the appellant.

It was the practice at home and set forth in text books that once a case was set down for trial the right to a jury vanished unless an adjournment was granted for the parties to get the jury by common consent. It seemed to his Lordship that those cases were decisive against the appellant, and therefore he lost his right to a jury seven days before November 16 last.

Continuing, his Lordship remarked that he had been asked to exercise powers which the Court was given under article 92. Before a Court of Appeal interfered it must be satisfied that the discretion exercised by the Assistant Judge was a non-judicial one. Nothing whatsoever had been done to show that the discretion of the learned Judge was anything but judicial. The appellant had failed on both points of appeal, the Chief Judge said.

The Assistant Judge concurred.

'Frisco Trade Delegation Gratified By Trip To East

Bearing to commercial men in America a message of opportunities to be developed and of competition to be met in the Far East, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Trade Mission, after its second visit to Shanghai, sailed for home yesterday on board the Pacific Mail liner Empire State.

When leaving yesterday delegates declared that they would recommend that a mission similar to the one which has just toured the East be sent out each year in future, bringing to the Far Eastern field leading business men, bankers and technical experts along various lines who would thus be enabled to study conditions at first hand and bring about closer and friendlier trade relations with the United States.

Just before the boat pulled out, bound for San Francisco via Honolulu, Mr. Dwight K. Grady, foreign trade secretary of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, said:

TRIP GRATIFYING

"We have been more than gratified with the results of our visits in every port and our commission has been deeply impressed with the many opportunities not only for our trading companies but for the investment of capital as well. From the standpoint of education and advertising alone, were our objective not more serious, we should have been amply repaid for the long trip we are about to complete.

"We have found evidences of strong competition by the various commercial representatives of European countries and the fact that our competitors are so active in these markets only supports us in our belief that Asia and the adjacent territory hold the key to the future commercial position of the United States.

"We shall go home with a definite and positive message to the people of San Francisco and the United States and I am sure that the commercial members of our mission will be unremitting in their efforts to not only promote commerce across the Pacific but with keener realisation as the result of their visit devote themselves to the development of a closer rapprochment of amity and comity."

The trade mission has visited Hongkong, Singapore, Saigon, Java Manila and Hongkong since its first visit in Shanghai and upon returning to San Francisco an exhaustive report on trade conditions will be prepared for the benefit of San Francisco business men.

MISSION GIVES DINNER

On Sunday evening the trade delegation was host to heads of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, Chinese officials and others at a dinner given at the Union Club. The dinner was presided over by Mr. A. J. Esberg, head of the delegation, and the speakers included Mr. D. K. Grady, United States Consul-General E. S. Cunningham, President V. G. Lyman of the American Chamber of Commerce here; Dr. P. W. Kuo, president of the Southeastern University, Mr. Byron Mauzy and Mr. C. B. Lastreto.

Mr. Grady pointed out the necessity of following up the results gained by the visit to the Far East of his delegation.

"Merchants and bankers of San Francisco have seen the potentialities and possibilities of trade with the Far East, and they return to America with new ideas of foreign trade, with broader conceptions of international dealing, with concrete knowledge of how to do business, to the mutual benefit of San Francisco and Far Eastern countries," Mr. Grady said.

At The Lyceum

The Warwick Comedy Company presented Hubert Henry Davies' witty comedy, "Doormats" last night at the Lyceum theater to a good house, full of appreciation of the fun gotten out of the piece by the leading actors, Mr. Thorpe Mayne and Miss Joan Mayne.

The word "doormat" is meant as a catchword for a person who continually permits himself to be "walked upon." The possibilities for humor were many and were made most of by the players.

The company continues with "Doormats" tonight and tomorrow presents another of their repertoire: "The Importance of Being Earnest," of Oscar Wilde's "trivial play for serious people."

The bill changes on Friday and Saturday to "Eliza Comes to Stay," the same farcial comedy given by this company on their last tour of the Far East.

ability. To each according to his needs."

"There was," said Dr. Williams, "the spirit of service."

When, later, the people grew selfish and refused to part with their earnings for public service, the spirit of the decadence set in and the city was in time reduced to a state of complete desolation.

STRESSES CO-OPERATION

A representative gathering of foreigners and Chinese representing newspapers and news agencies was present at the Shun Pao offices to greet Dr. Williams who, after a visit through the plant, took tea and in a brief speech commended the energetic spirit of the heads and staffs of the paper for their excellent organisation and emphasised the importance of the spirit of brotherhood between the journalists of China and the journalists of America. By their united efforts, he said, much good will be accomplished for the welfare of the two nations, contributing indirectly to the prosperity and happiness of the world.

Owing to the indisposition of Mr. C. C. Nieh, Chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, Dr. P. W. Kuo, President of Southeastern University, took the chair at the dinner last night. Among those present were Mr. A. R. Hager, President of the American University Club; Mr. Don D. Patterson, and representatives of the Chinese press, the Chinese business community and the Kiangsu Educational Association.

In introducing Dr. Williams Dr. Kuo paid a warm tribute to the important and successful work he had done in giving efficient training to men destined to spend their lives in the journalistic profession, referring to particular examples of success in the case of his Chinese students.

Dr. Williams in his response said he was pleased with the signs of remarkable progress that he had noticed in his present visit and strongly recommended the conclusion of a triple alliance between the men of the three great professions that were represented at the banquet—education, which trains men for their life work; commerce, which produces material success, and journalism, which interprets, inspires and records the thoughts and actions of men and nations. He would like to see this triple alliance being entered into both in America and China and he would predict that the results of co-operative endeavor between the members of this alliance on both sides of the Pacific will do much for the cementing of the bonds of friendship and good will between the two nations, making for the improvement of world conditions ultimately.

SOVIET BANK TO AID INDUSTRIES

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Dec. 5.—Below is an account of an interview between the Rosta representative and Mr. Scheinemann, the Director of the New State Bank:

"The necessity of creating the new state bank arose out of the new economic relations brought about by the introduction of the new economic policy. The right of enlarging individual branches of production, the formation of trusts and private undertakings, and the growth of the co-operatives all demanded the organisation of credit on the largest scale.

"The granting of credits to industrial undertakings for the purpose of raising their productivity is one of the basic tasks of the new bank. We will grant industrial credits to all concerns which justify their existence as units of production, no matter whether they are co-operative or private undertakings. In our field of activity will fall chiefly tasks of a general character for the restoration of our economic life.

"One of our current tasks is the establishment of relations with foreign countries for carrying on banking operations on a large scale. We consider it necessary to declare that with the beginning of the activity of the state bank a number of government decrees will go out of force which limit the operation in exchange on the part of private persons.

"The state bank which undertakes transmissions of all kinds guarantees the absolute safety of all foreign moneys and most favorable conditions for transmission are intended. As is known the All-Russian Central Executive Committee has granted two thousand milliard rubles as capital for the state bank. A number of well-known financiers will be brought into the board of directors, including the famous financial specialist, Mr. Cutler, who has had great experience in the field of banking."

Troops Clash — At Liuyang, Peking Report

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 8.—According to a report through railway channels a clash has occurred between Hunan and Northern troops at Liuyang. As there are no Northern troops but some of General Chang Hung-ying's men at Liuyang it is believed in Peking military circles that it is the latter's men who have been in conflict with the Hunanese.

General Shen Hung-ying served under General Lu Yung-ting, and when the latter was defeated he declared himself on the side of General Chen Chiung-ming. General Chen, however, did not trust General Sheng and defeated and drove him and his troops on to the order of Hunan, Kiangsi and Kweichow, where he joined the side of General Chang Kuang-tsuan, by whom he was given a frontier command.

TOAST

As a matter of real importance can any reader kindly inform us what it is that Chinese cooks do with toast to produce the abominable travesty of that excellent breakfast concomitant that we all know but too well?

Most of the dishes beloved of foreigners Chinese cooks [for whose genius we have the greatest admiration] can and do learn to make admirably. But toast is seemingly beyond them. It may come to table outwardly hot and crisp, but two minutes later it has changed either to something of the consistency of damp felt, or to adamant. The most careful directions may be given; hold the bread in front of the fire, do not scrape it, do not lay it down but stand it on edge, do not begin toasting it till the last minute. But all in vain. What does cook do?—From the North-China Daily News, December 5, 1921.

Electricity in the Home

Do not blame the cook. He cannot help but make unpalatable toast over the top of a coal fire. The electric toaster solves the problem. Have it on the breakfast table, cut your own bread, make your own toast. The cost of current used for an ordinary household would be less than Tls. 0.90 per month.

Rowing Club Fives Beat 'Y' And A. M. Co. Teams

Superior Training Shows For Oarsmen In Two Fast Games

The two Rowing Club teams in the Shanghai Foreign Basketball League won out in their scheduled games last night, the Strokeside beating the Y.M.C.A. five by a score of 54-19, and the Bowside in the second game winning over the Andersen, Meyer Company at 49-17. Both matches were well played with the Club's fives appearing to be in better practice, and winning by superior teamwork and shooting.

H. Nash and Neprud for the Strokeside did the bulk of the scoring for their team, with fine support from their team-mates. Posner, Van Hook and Bartlett each scored three goals from the floor for the "Y," and the latter added one more point from the foul line.

The Bowside-Andersen, Meyer match was another fighting game, with the Club smothering the Hong team by strong defensive tactics, and piling up a big score on clever open basketball. Smith, Scott and Gattrell were the point getters for the Club, while Wythe and Armstrong starred for the opposition.

The league schedule for tonight provides but one game, that between the Shanghai Public School and the Shanghai American School on the "Y" floor. Both of these teams are fast and strong, and about evenly matched all around. It is one game that many basketball fans have been waiting for. Play commences at 9. p.m.

CAPT. MITCHELL WINS AGGREGATE IN M. G. CO. MEET

The annual rifle meeting of the Machine Gun Company was held at the rifle range on Sunday, when in spite of the cold weather over 80 percent of the men were present. There was a keen wind blowing, and the conditions were all against high scoring, but nevertheless this keen unit must be congratulated on the excellent results obtained.

Capt. H. E. Middleton, late O. C. the Company was the guest of the meeting, and he gratified his hosts by being exceedingly well up in the aggregate, in spite of his having had little or no opportunity for practice during the last year.

Capt. G. E. Mitchell won the Grand Aggregate with the fine score of 196, L/Cpl. Elias being second with 184. The Inter-Detachment competition for the Middleton Cup, was keenly contested and resulted in a win for No. 2 Detachment (L/Cpl. Elias i/c) with an average score of 6. No. 5 detachment (Sgt. Newman i/c) were second with an average score of 4. In the competition for the Deluge Cup, Gunner Brand, L/Cpl. The Musketry Challenge Cup which is won twice by the Detachment showing the best averages for attendance and shooting at Monthly Cup Competitions, has resulted in a win for No. 2 Detachment, the points for the half year ending December being as follows:

Detachment No. 2—46 points
" No. 4—45 "
" No. 3—39 "
" No. 1—24 "

A'mn School And Light XI May Meet Next Saturday

Gallop's Squad Starts Hard Training Period Tonight For Marine Game

The Shanghai American Football Club starts tonight on a new schedule of practice which Manager Gallop expects to keep in force until the day before the big match on New Year with the United States Legation Guard eleven from Peking, the champions of North China.

The program calls for two nights of practice each week, Wednesday and Thursday, commencing at 9 o'clock, an open air session each Saturday commencing at 3 o'clock on the Polo Field to be followed each Sunday morning at 10 o'clock with a sharp workout on the Rugby field in front of the Cricket Club.

There is a possibility now that the Shanghai American School will play the light Shanghai eleven Saturday at 3 p.m., probably at Hongkew Park. The School is willing and Manager Gallop is canvassing over his squad trying to weigh out a light team for the match.

It is also not impossible that the hoped-for match for Christmas between the School and the Lightweights will materialise even yet. Coach J. O. Van Hook last night said that notwithstanding the closing of the school over the holiday period, it may be that the eleven could be gotten together for the game. A little canvassing among the school boys will decide the match.

COOLIE CHARGED FOR MURDER OF MILL PAYMASTER

The coolie held for the murder of the Yangtzepoo Cotton Mill employe who was killed Saturday morning after a terrible battle in which he tried to save the company's payroll, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday and was charged. In addition to the murder charge one of burglary was laid, alleging theft of the sum of $5,500.

The inquest over the body of the victim was begun yesterday morning and was adjourned after evidence of identification had been given.

The coolie defendant, who was arrested in his home shortly after the crime had been committed and was found to have been wounded himself, is said to have made a complete confession to the police. He was employed as an oiler in the mill and had evidently made a careful study of the situation before attempting the robbery. most of the money which he carried away with him was found concealed about the roof of the building and an adjoining structure, the thief evidently having been too weakened by loss of blood to carry it further. The coolie was suffering from two wounds, one in the thigh, believed to have been self-inflicted during the struggle with the victim, and one on the back of the hand, which might have been caused by glass in the skylight through which he made his entrance and exit.

A second coolie is being held as a witness in the case.

Impersonator Of Police Sentenced To Five-Year Term

A Chinese teacher convicted of preying upon brothel-keepers, opium-smokers and others by representing himself to be a police officer was sentenced to five years' imprisonment by the Mixed Court yesterday.

The man, one Loo Lau-soong, was charged on nine separate counts. His mode of operation was to call on proprietors of sing-song houses or men whom he knew to be opium smokers and threaten license cancellation or police raids unless a certain amount of money was paid over.

JUST AS AT HOME SAYS PEKING OF LEGATES LEAVING

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 11.—Interviewed by Reuter's correspondent this morning, a member of the Cabinet said that the Central Government views the resignations of the Chinese delegates at Washington somewhat in the light of an exhibition of Chinese politics at Washington.

The Minister added that the Chinese delegates were apparently somewhat carried away by the altruistic statements with which they were greeted by the foreign delegations and the repeated asseverations of the delegations that they would assist in securing for China the right to exercise independence of administration and the right to reclaim territorial integrity as well as the flattering hearing they received at the earlier meetings.

Having striven strenously for success, the delegates appear to have been really disappointed when it came to a concrete application of those principles. This in itself however would not have led to their resignations but about the same time people throughout China began to bombard them with telegrams alleging their failure and urging them to secure justice for China.

MAKE TACTICAL MOVE

Looking forward to the reception they would receive on their return to China, the delegates then resorted to the well-known Chinese tactical move of resigning. Dr. Tyau announced that fact when he handed in his resignation to the chief delegates, who are forwarding it home with those of Admiral Tsai Ting-kan and Dr. Chow Tze-chi added to their own.

The matter was immediately discussed by the President and the Cabinet and all were unanimous in instructing Dr. W. W. Yen to ask the delegates to carry on, adding the expression of the Government's satisfaction with their conduct of China's case.

The incident was published in the Chinese press and the Government did not anticipate any further unfavorable developments. The question of how far the tactical effect desired at Washington had been achieved was answered evasively.

After the meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon the Finance Minister telegraphed to the delegation outlining the Government's views regarding China's financial reorganisation.

The Minister said that the British delegation had suggested the application of effective 7.5 percent Customs dues owing to the fact that the proposal to abolish likin had met with a somewhat cold reception on the ground that it was unfeasible until unification had been secured, the idea being to leave its abolition for future arrangements.

PROVINCES NOW OBJECT

In this connection the Minister explained that, while the merchants mostly favored its abolition, the provinces pointed out that the substitution of Customs revenues would necessarily deprive them of immediate revenue as it would take some time for the Customs collection to reach the provinces. The Government proposed, when the time came, to raise a loan secured on and substituted for the revenue with which the provinces would be paid their share in advance. This, however, was looking to the future.

The Government was pleased at the proposal to raise the revenue to 7.5 percent. This would enable the consolidation of the service of all unsecured loans, including the Anfuite loans, amounting to $175,000,000, and also various domestic obligations. Thus the whole of China's obligations, totalling $500,000,000—a very small liability compared with her resources and the indebtedness of most Powers—would be placed on a sound footing. Also thereby a proportion of the Salt revenues would be released to the Government whereas they are now pledged for the next two years.

OUTLINES NEW SCHEME

Mr. Kao Ling-wei had outlined a scheme for the proper financing of education and sundry commercial and industrial reforms which had hitherto been impossible. There might be a mixed commission to deal with these reforms if the Powers concerned agreed to forego the unpaid Boxer indemnities for educational purposes. The consolidation of loans and their service might be carried out by the Inspector-General and when the time arrived the Customs revenues, equivalent to likin, might also remain in the hands of the Customs for the service of the loan destined for compensation to the provinces.

As far as the Central Administration is concerned it was expected that after security had been given for loan service and industrial reforms had been provided for that there would be a balance sufficient to meet the needs of the Central Government.

In this connection it was proposed to revert to the former system of supervision prior to expenditure and audit after expenditure by the Audit Department which was a mixed office.

RAY OF GOLDEN LIGHT

The measure of tariff autonomy, appearing in sight, was a very bright spot on the horizon. Other questions were being threshed out at Washington but had not reached a state where the Central Government would express a decided view though the Shantung question appeared to be progressing favorably.

In conclusion the Minister said that the financial situation in China was most important to the Chinese. The weakness of the Central Government was largely due to the want of funds and although a thorough financial reorganisation could not be carried out until unification, anything leading in the direction of financial stability would materially hasten unification.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinct res and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

HAPPY SOLUTION OF IRISH BROIL FRENCH ASSERT

(Special To The China Press)

Peking, Dec. 8.—Yesterday's and today's French press congratulates England and Ireland upon the happy solution of the Irish question and states that the French not only understand the national aspirations of the Irish, who are their racial brothers, but also have a feeling of keen friendship for the English, who are the allies of France.

The Petit Parisien says: "We are much gratified with the news. Alsace-Lorraine, Danish Schleswig, Trieste and Poland have been liberated. Now Ireland is free. This is indeed comforting to those who care for justice."

Le Journal understands that the impression made in America by the Anglo-Irish Agreement is sure to be immense. The hatred of the English nursed by Irish emigrants in America has hitherto weighed heavily on the relations of England and the United States. Lloyd George, who has taken the lead in bringing the agreement to a satisfactory conclusion, should now reap the fruits of it.

The Times (London) notes the impressions of tremendous relief in Ireland, especially in matters of every-day life. This according to the agreement was concluded and a great industrial development is already reckoned with.

Soviet Hoping For Big Gain In Revenue In 1922

(Reuter's Service)

Reval, Dec. 10.—A telegram from Moscow estimates the revenue for the first nine months of 1922 at a total of 1,410,000,000 gold rubles. Receipts from industry are estimated at 880,000,000, from taxes in kind at 180,000,000, from taxes in money at 110,000,000, and from the issue of paper money at 230,000,000.

As the value of Russian currency is at present a hundred thousand times below the pre-war value, the estimates practically amount to 141,000,000,000,000 rubles.

Brigade Answers Seven Calls Over The Last Week-End

Between Saturday evening and yesterday afternoon the Fire Department answered seven calls, none of the outbreaks being of serious nature. The most dangerous blaze attended was at Boundary and Cunningham Roads Sunday morning when efficient work by the Hongkew division saved a block of buildings.

The other calls were to 33 Seward Road, 4:30 a.m. Sunday, a fusing of electric wires resulting in little damage; 249 Hankow Road, 4:53 p.m. Sunday, a cooking stove flame causing the alarm; 23 Yulin Road, Sunday evening when rubbish burning resulted in the turning in of an alarm, and at 48 Fokien Road early yesterday morning, when a cook house caught fire but little damage was done.

PLAN NEW WHARF

A wharf is to be constructed by the China Merchants Steamship Navigation Company at Chenhai, a city situated at the mouth of the Yaukiang—a river leading to Ningpo—according to reports. The decision is said to have been reached at a meeting of the board of directors as a result of a motion made by Mr. Fu Siao-en, one of the directors. The measure has already been approved by the Customs at Ningpo. According to Mr. Fu, who is a native of Chenhai, the building of a wharf there is necessary, because hitherto ships anchored in the stream to the inconvenience of the passengers and freight handling.

THINKS BABY'S OWN TABLETS SAVED HER BABY'S LIFE.

Canadian mothers have known nd trusted Baby's Own Tablets for years. Here is one such mother's experience:—

"I think I can thank Baby's Own Tablets for my baby's life. He we badly constipated, but after giving him the Tablets they relieved him almost at once. I also find them good when he is at all restless and I feel that I cannot say too much in their favour," writes Mrs. John N. Pringle, Forest Falls, Ontario.

To mothers everywhere Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are a real friend. They gently regulate the bowels, make teething easy, are a specific for colic, diarrhoea, indigestion, simple fever and worms. Contain no opiates, are guaranteed absolutely harmless for the youngest child. Of chemists, also post free, 60 cents the vial, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Singapore Rubber Auction

Singapore, Nov. 30, 1921

Since our last report the London market has shown a slight downward fluctuation of ¼d., but recovered yesterday again to 11d. with an upward tendency. New York is also reported up to 19½ cents, and the local market has remained very firm with sellers holding out for full prices.

There was an excellent demand for all grades at the weekly auction, which took place today.

Prices are, however, practically unchanged on the week.

625 tons were catalogued, 591 tons offered and 532 tons sold.

Awarded Standard Sheet found ready buyers, selling at 38 cents; one lot in cases realised 38½ cents. Some buyers withdrew their lots at the above bid, probably being able to fetch higher prices in the outside market.

Sheet equal to Standard sold from 37½ to 38 cents, the latter price marking an advance of ½ cent.

There was again a good demand for Off Quality Sheet.

Awarded Standard 1st Latex sold at 37½ cents, thus showing no change compared with last auction's prices.

Crepe equal to Standard was easy of sale, one lot fetching 38 cents.

Off Color Latex sold to an interested market.

Fine Brown Crepe was wanted; one lot realised even 35 cents.

The average price for this grade has advanced more than 1 cent on the week.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were readily disposed of at satisfactory prices.

The Journalistic Future Of China

BY FRANCIS ZIA

(A Chinese journalist's welcome to Dr. Walter Williams. Mr. Zia is a member of THE CHINA PRESS staff).

ALTHOUGH China has to her credit the distinction of being the first nation to invent the art of printing coupled with the honor of having produced the oldest newspaper in the world, journalism in the modern sense of the word is still in its infancy in China. In its early history the so-called newspaper in China was a medium for the diffusion of news among those in high places while the common people, being proverbially indifferent to political events, and the merchants, confining their business activities within a small territory, had very little use for it.

The newspaper has had only the last 50 years within which to exert its influence on the lives and thoughts of the Chinese people and what is today considered a readable newspaper did not see the light until 20 years ago when two scholars of national renown, Kang Yu-wei, a pioneer reformer of the modern school and his pupil who is also his peer, Liang Chi-chao, started to invade the country with various types of modern literature which set the people thinking, and which gave them in place of a local and provincial viewpoint of things a national and international outlook on life.

Taking for the purpose of illustration the two premier dailies in China, the Shun Pao and the Sin Wan Pao, which came into existence in 1872 and 1893 respectively, we shall find that prior to the period of literary revolution to which reference has just been made the contents of these newspapers mainly consisted of imperial decrees, memorials sent to the throne, local and provincial news, and items of news translated from the foreign press.

An idea of the remarkable growth of the newspaper standard in this country during the last two decades can be easily gathered in a casual examination of the contents of some of the newspapers published in this city such as the Shun Pao, the Sin Wan Pao, the Shih Pao, the Shang Pao, etc. Not only do these papers possess an excellent system of telegraphic news service covering the field of news both in Peking and in the leading cities of this country, the services rendered by foreign news agencies in addition to those by special correspondents in the foreign countries are secured for the supply of news concerning world events. News by mail is regularly supplied by correspondents dotted in various political or commercial centers in the country as well as correspondents residing in the capital cities of foreign countries.

Additional features that deserve particular mention are special articles on topics of current interest, special departments assigned to commercial and financial news, special supplements catering to the specific interests of certain classes of readers, and elaborate supplements on the occasion of the anniversary of the foundation of the Republic, etc. The editorial policy is also standardised by definite aims supported by persistent efforts in the direction of furthering those aims which for convenience sake, may be reduced to two: (a) the advocacy of reconstructive measures in order to establish a stable central government that will carry out the ideals of democratic administration and (b) the defense of China's sovereign rights against foreign aggression and oppression. Perhaps in fairness to the newspaper of less progressive days it should be mentioned that the steady increase of advertising patronage in recent times both from Chinese and foreign sources is the mainspring of the gratifying changes that have taken place.

The Chinese newspaper has found a very powerful ally in the numerous magazines and periodicals that have sprung into existence within recent years. In spite of the adverse criticism of their mushroom growth, the fact remains that there have been in existence a number of magazines containing articles of sterling value which represent the work of experts who have not shrunk from the arduous and often tedious task of making exhaustive investigations in order to secure the necessary data. One magazine that deserves particular mention is the Eastern Miscellany, now a half-monthly publication, founded in the year 1904 and published by the Commercial Press. This magazine is to the Chinese what the World's Work is to the Americans.

Although it is now an incontrovertible fact that the Chinese press is wielding an immense influence in working out China's salvation, this influence can be remarkably multiplied by a program of co-operative endeavor between the Chinese press and the foreign press in this country. The latter is in the specially privileged position of helping China to solve her diplomatic problems and to bring about an international relationship of the most progressive type between China and the foreign nations. Whether it chooses to exercise it or not, the foreign press has the power of making known to the outside world the actual conditions in China and of assuming a sympathetic attitude towards China's domestic troubles which are incidental to the process of republican evolution that is taking place, and which are part and parcel of the history of every foreign nation which has succeeded in overthrowing autocracy and instituting in its place the rule of democracy. It is time now that the foreign press in China should take the lead in encouraging foreign nationals residing in this country to manifest a closer interest in China and things Chinese, which will go a long way to improve their relations with the Chinese.

As the standardisation of journalism as one of the leading professions is an achievement of recent times in the United States, whatever may be said of its newspaper successes in other directions—this is an achievement that has been largely due to the untiring efforts on the part of Dr. Walter Williams, Dean of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri, who is now on a brief visit to Shanghai— it may naturally be inferred that stupendous efforts will be required to bring about ideal journalistic conditions in this country whereby not only will there be provided abundant facilities for vocational training in journalism but the remunerative character of the profession will be made such as to attract the life-long services of men and women possessed of qualifications that fit them for the journalistic career, a walk of life that is at times abandoned by promising candidates for economic reasons.

Optimistic students of Chinese affairs see before them the dawn of a new China with a new order of prosperity and progress under which China's rich natural resources and unlimited man-power will be utilised not only for the welfare of the Chinese people themselves but also for the more noble object of making the world a better and happier place for all to live in.

When this "Golden Age of Democracy" has come, it will be found that the Chinese press working in close co-operation with the foreign press will have vitally contributed to its advent. That the Chinese journalists of today are a practical and forward-looking section of the Chinese population is amply evidenced by the fact that they do not merely possess journalistic ideals but realise the present drawbacks which militate against the development of the Chinese press in the way of mechanical equipment, architectural limitations and the lack of a special international news agency which will supply the Chinese people with accurate information concerning world events of special importance to China and of circulating authentic news in foreign countries regarding happenings in China.

The fact that the Chinese newspapers were well represented at the last session, the second of its kind, of the World's Press Congress held at Honolulu, and the fact that so cordial and enthusiastic a welcome was offered to Lord Northcliffe last month and is being held in honor of Dr. Walter Williams now, affords plain evidence that the Chinese journalists are alive to the importance of China-Foreign co-operation in the functions of the press, and are intensely eager to learn the means and ways of furthering the great mission of journalism in China.

Pres. Hsu Asks For Unity

In a lengthy circular telegram addressed to the military and civil authorities of the various provinces, which is given publicity in the Peking newspapers, President Hsu has issued an appeal to the people of all China to come forward and take control of the government through Parliament and by an expression of public opinion.

"Ten years have elapsed since the establishment of the Chinese Republic and more than three years since my election to the Presidency", he says. "The events which took place during this period are all of such a difficult and complicated nature that it is painful for one to recount them.

"With age and feebleness falling upon me, what other motive did I really have by shouldering the serious and difficult tasks of state at a time of turmoil and disorder than my mere illusion that I might do something for the people and country that has impelled me to do my duty without hesitation? It is, however, contrary to my wish and hope that the years have gone by while I am still unable to achieve my object and the condition of the country is growing more and more chaotic and precarious.

"In the past ten years the losses to the country and the sufferings of the people have been exceedingly great and innumerable. For instance, the repeated fightings which have taken place during recent years have certainly caused tremendous military expenses; the excessive borrowing of foreign loans has proved highly detrimental to the nation's finance and economy; and the stagnation of commerce and industry and the neglect of education of the country's youths have simply deprived the country of its industrial and educational development and fruitful results.

"During recent years the five Southeastern Provinces have severed relations with the Central Government and observers of China are always in the habit of pointing out the disunion of the Country, whereas actual facts, in my opinion, indicate just the otherwise. It is to be observed that communications between the North and South have not received any hinderance or molestation; the people have travelled to and fro freely; merchandise has been transported hither and thither without ban or embargo; and the systems of law and enducation have continued to exist side by side without any difference or change. From these facts, it is self-evident that the disunion of the country now existing is not the common wish and desire of the people. Since it is not the idea of the people, is it not a painful thing that they are compelled to tolerate it under a state of war?

"Was not the secession of the five Southwestern Provinces caused, at the beginning, by the question of the Parliament? The serious dissension over this question caused a considerable gulf in the opinions of the country. Therefore, in October of last year, I issued an order restoring into force the law governing the election of members to Parliament and the law governing the organisation of the Parliament, both promulgated in the first year of the Republic, and under their provisions another Parliament was to be convoked, in the hope that the difference of opinion thus caused might be removed and the country be reunited.

Such a step was then considered in some quarters as most extraordinary, but being desirous of immediate unification of the country, I did not hesitate to take it. I have hoped that after the Parliament comes into session, it will be able to represent the majority opinion of the people in the determination of the Nation's Policy, in the selection of the wise and the able to public service, and in the framing of the National Constitution, to the end that great deeds may be achieved by the country and that Government and politics may travel in their proper orbit.

"Now, those who advocate the system of the Federation of Provinces have no other motive than their opposition to the system of Centralisation of Power in the Central Government. The former Ching Dynasty, through actual experiences, had already suffered its evils. The present Central Government cannot speak of concentration of power. It can rather properly speak of the concentration of evils or calamities. With reference to self-government, the laws recently promulgated by the Government are now being gradually enforced, and it would be very desirable if the existing laws on the system of self-government be improved and perfected, so as to enable the people to enjoy their natural development and to avoid war.

Last year, Szechuan, Yunnan and other Provinces announced their system of self-government. One year has elapsed, yet we still can see no results therefrom. The slogan of self-government has of late been taken advantage of by demagogues as their standard and the consequence has been that more fighting ensued and that local bandits took advantage of the situation of disorder to rob and plunder, both contributing to the devastation of the various provinces. Such an application of self-government is nothing but self-confusion. Again in the different provinces, men have sought power and wealth and one fought with another successively. In some cases disputes have broken out over measures of reform ere their effects could be seen. Such a system of self-government can be nothing short of self-confusion also.

"As to the Southwest, I have stood firm for peace for the last three years and have been willing to compromise on whatever terms proved acceptable. Such a policy has been fully seen by the people of the whole country. Therefore, with reference to the question of unification and how to effect it, you should study over the problem carefully and minutely in order that the unification of the country may be effected at an early date.

"In conclusion, let me say that during such a time of turmoil and disturbance, it is more urgently necessary to restore peace and order than anything else and I sincerely hope that my civil and military colleagues, prompted by the spirit of self-denial and sacrifice, will attempt to find a fundamental solution for the country's important problems. Though very elaborate, yet I am sure I shall be highly gratified in the end."

(Signed) Hsu Shih-chang.

This week sees over one hundred and seventy of our brightest Shanghai youngsters endeavoring to answer questions set by wise examiners at Cambridge. Whether the answers will satisfy the examiners is at present the question.

Talking of kiddies here is a few of Harry Hemsley's best stories about children.

Harry Hemsley, by the way, has not only a wonderful fund of these stories but he is a fine mimic.

A small boy moved with his parents from London to Gloucester, where they had taken a house. This boy had conceived a profound respect for the moon, which he would address, when by himself, in reverent tones. One evening, after my friends had settled in their new home, he went into the garden, and, looking up at the shining orb, said gravely:

"Evenin', Moon! 'Ow do you like Gloucester?"

He thought that the moon had moved, too!

A fat boy attended a Sunday-school treat. Not the least enjoyable item was the tea. He sat down and ate steadily. Presently an elderly spinster handed him a plate of cake, and said in her old fashioned way: "Do let me press you to take a piece!" The child looked at her dubiously, and said: "No, don't press me; I'll undo my top button."

A recent big event in the racing world set a certain family talking of nothing but sweepstakes. Finally, they decided to hold one among themselves. Their two youngest children insisted on making their draw with the rest.

The little girl drew a blank, whereupon, in a sudden access of generosity, she turned to her brother and said: "Never mind, Bobby; if my blank wins I'll share it with you!"

Johnny's father was an inveterate bridge player. One day an uncle took him to see a Royal procession. He hoisted the youngster on his shoulder and pointed out King George.

"Go on!" exclaimed Johnny. "That's not him; he's only got one head!"

"One head?" said Uncle.

"Yes," said Johnny. "He always has one at each end in dad's pack of cards!"

A certain mother prepared an extra nice tea, for the vicar was expected. Said her little girl, when the cakes were put on the table: "Mother, may I have that one?"—pointing to a rich sugar cake.

"Yes," said mother, "if you are good."

The vicar arrived, and the child's behaviour was all that could be desired, until the vicar took the cake that had been promised to the child.

"Mother," exclaimed the kiddie, in a stage whisper, "he's taking my cake."

"Never mind," mother whispered back, "you can have another."

"I know" said the child, "b-but I've licked that one."

A child said to her father, "Daddy, what is a collision?"

"It's when two things come together," was the father's vague reply.

"But the child seemed satisfied. "Oh," she said, "I know—twins."

This story was sent by a friend who lived for many years in the backwoods of Canada. A year after he and his wife arrived in the dominion a son was born. Their home was far from civilisation and the boy was brought up in complete seclusion.

The result was that by the time he was three years old he knew a great deal about animal life in the woods but nothing about human beings.

One day he saw a strange creature approaching. He ran indoors wild with excitement. "Oh, Mummy, look," he cried. "Here comes a funny thing like father." It was the only man other than his father that he had ever seen.

"One leads where many follow."
Hall's Distemper has led the way to a new era in house decoration—the era of brighter, cleaner and healthier homes.
It is the most durable of all decorations, lasting for years with freshness unimpaired, whereas wall-papers deteriorate from the first day by fading and accumulating dust and dirt.
Hall's Distemper is a thorough disinfectant, and is applied directly upon the wall, forming a hard surface, from which dust and dirt may be "sponge-cleaned" by lightly sponging with warm water.
Hall's Distemper (Registered Trade Mark) is a unique preparation and has the recommendation of leading sanitary authorities, architects, and decorators everywhere.
Avoid disappointment by refusing substitutes which do not possess its advantages.

College And School Notes

ST. JOHN'S UNIVERSITY

During the week, a petition for the extension of the Christmas holidays was sent by the student body to the faculty. On the evening of December 5 a faculty meeting was held in the Administration Office of the university, and the extension of the Christmas holidays from December 25, 1921 to January 1, 1922 was granted.

The Shanghai Students Union, in conjunction with the merchants' and laborers' organisations in Shanghai, held a parade in the afternoon of December 8 in what is known as the Wu Kiung Yin. The students of St. John's University were permited to leave the College campus and participate in the demonstration.

The Inter-collegiate English Debate between Nanking University and St. John's University took place on Thursday evening, December 8 in the Alumni Hall, St. John's University. The subject was: Resolved, that China should adopt a federal form of Government. The allotment of sides was made through the drawing of lots. The Nanking team upheld the affirmative and St. John's the negative. The judges were Dr. Luther Freeman of the Community Church; Dr. Fong F. Sec, of the Commercial Press, and Acting President W. B. Nance of Soochow University. The decision was in favor of the affirmative. The Nanking team set forward clear ideas on the present conditions and necessities of China, and their speeches were characterised by keen observations and eloquent delivery.

NANYANG COLLEGE

Prof. T. C. Chang has been appointed as the Acting Vice-Principal of the college during absence of Mr. H. H. Ling in Peking.

Mr. Clark, of the General Electric Co., lectured before the Engineering Society on "Million Volts Transmission" on Friday afternoon. He represented the company in extending best wishes to the college and the Dean of the Electrical course, Prof. S. R. Sheldon, as the college is of special interest to the company in the Orient.

Mr. T. K. Kao, of Messrs. Lam. Glines & Co., talked on the "Manufacture of Steel Plate" to the Engineering Society on Thursday night. He showed about one hundred lantern slides of the different departments in the steel mills. Mr. Kao was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and worked with the American Rolling Mill Co., which produces the famous "Armco" steel.

The Nanyang Students Association have held their first photo contest and a silver medal is to be awarded for the best picture. Many pictures have been collected and the result will be announced on December 15.

The Radio Service of the college radio station now furnishes news to the different Chinese papers. The service has received wireless messages from Washington, Paris and Bonne, and emphasises on the events of the Washington Conference.

All the students were vaccinated by college physician Dr. V. P. Yu last week.

COLLEGE OF COMMERCE

The dormitory of the college erected to the West of the main building, the International Institution, has now been completed. It is in the Chinese style, comprising twenty-four sections, six of them for the faculty and girl students. The rooms previously occupied for the dormitory are now being used for the extension of the library and the Economic Bureau.

Prof. H. F. Sun, of the Chemistry department, Southeastern University, spoke to the students on Friday.

The students made an inspection tour of the Chinese American Bank of Commerce, led by Prof. C. P. Chow. They went through the different departments and the library of the bank.

FU-TAN UNIVERSITY

Of the new University buildings being erected in Kiangwan, not far from the Race Course, two are now ready for use. The University department will be removed there early in the spring, while the middle school department will stay in the present buildings.

The Good Roads Movement Campaign includes a students' team, and representatives from Fu-tan, St. John's, Nanyang, and Shanghai College were called to a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss the general plan last week. The Fu-tan representative was elected as head of the team.

The cross-country team of the University held the championship last year in the running of all-Shanghai School steams, and this year they started fairly early for practice. Yesterday they took five-mile run from the Avenue Haig, through Edinburgh Road and the Jessfield Road and return. The prospects this year seem better than ever.

TEXACO MOTOR OILS

—SAVE { POWER THE ENGINE EXPENSE

There are four grades of Texaco Motor Oil; light, medium, heavy and extra heavy—a grade to suit your every requirement, no matter what kind of car you drive.

Texaco Motor Oil assures maximum power because it holds the "seal" between piston rings and cylinder walls. That is where fuel leakage occurs when the lubricant does not possess body to function properly.

Texaco Motor Oils are composed of the best American Crudes, refined according to most scientific methods, and each tin is tested before it leaves the refinery. Use of it affords free lubrication to all moving parts of the motor, more power, high compression, and less carbon. The little carbon which does remain is never hard and flinty, but soft and fluffy like soot.

Texaco Motor Oil is a quality product, each drop is the same—maximum lubrication value, minimum waste.

The Chinese Recorder

The Chinese Recorder, Dec. 1921, published monthly by the Presbyterian Mission Press:—What do missionaries read? The question is interesting, both because there are wrong ideas abroad in some quarters as to their inner life, and because they are supposed to be to some extent an intellectual class, chosen partly for their attainments as students. Mr. L. Newton Hayes, of the Y.M.C.A. has been making a study of the question by means of a questionnaire and has arrived at some interesting results. For example, while their favorite books are naturally of a devotional character, they also read novels, and among their favorites are "Les Miserables," "Kim," "Aurora Leigh" and "David Balfour." Surely they must be very human creatures. And when we learn that Dickens and Shakespeare are at the head of the list of favorite authors, we can understand why so many of their children take part in story-writing contests. They take such periodicals as "The New Republic," and even "Punch" and "Life." The latter paper is noted for its intolerance of missions and for its bitter jibes at missionaries; in this case it seems not to be taken seriously. A most interesting study, and one that might well make many people who are not missionaries thoughtful. The chief difficulties in the way of more reading by missionaries are said to be lack of money and lack of time. Do people who have much more time and very much more money, do more solid, catholic and careful reading in the course of a year than they?

The Recorder's policy of giving publicity to the ideas of prominent Chinese Christians, and of Chinese who are not Christians, about Christianity, is well represented in this number by an article by Mr. P. C. Hsu of the Peking Y.M.C.A., entitled. "What the Chinese are thinking about Christianity." It is interesting to see that Mr. Hsu thinks that Christianity and the Renaissance are on the whole supplementing one another. And it is a pleasure to have a Chinese student take a frank stand about the social views of Bertrand Russell. "While Russell may have some fascinating theories about free love, the idea, if if universally adopted, must result in much immorality and social disorderliness." As to Christian leaders, he thinks that Christian schools have not been producing them in sufficient numbers. It is impossible to give a complete idea of the article here; we must be content with the summing up in the sentence, "The writer wants to assure his readers that his attitude toward the future of Christianity is very optimistic."

Dr. Snell of Soochow provides a useful discussion of "Exercise and Health," in the course of which we are favored with an illustrated description of Walter Camp's famous "Daily Dozen."

Professor Suh Hu continues his study of the "Logic of Moh Tih," a scholarly performance, revealing knowledge and thorough study on the part of the writer, and an ancient Chinese thinker who is none too well known, even among sinologues, and whom all who are interested in China would do well to get acquainted with. The shorter articles and the departments other than the contributed articles all maintain the standard expected from this veteran paper.

Norwegian Lloyd's Suspension Thought Reconstruction Step

Local Insurance Men Have No Fear Of Serious Difficulty

Saturday's formal announcement that the Norwegian Lloyd Insurance Company had suspended payments, and was refusing buinesss pending liquidation, is now interpreted in Shanghai as but a temporary stoppage of regular business, to allow for a reorganisation, perhaps with a new adjustment of capital to meet the changed business and financial conditions now prevailing the world over. There is no fear held here that the company is actually suspending.

Telegrams received here yesterday, while confirming the first formal notification that payments were stopped and business being refused, modified the stoppage of payments by the use of the word "provisional" in referring to the suspension.

Local insurance men put much weight on the value of the word "provisional," pointing out that a company of the Norwegian Lloyd's standing, with more than two million sterling capital and reserve could not go bankrupt overnight and out of a clear sky. There has never been the slightest indication that the company had been in difficulties.

It is expected when further advice is received on the company's suspension that it will mean nothing more than a reconstruction.
